						New-born child of F. Dykes, murder'd by its mother, as she confessed, & for the murder was hanged at Chelmsford. (Transcriber's note: Ipswich Journal, 29 July 1749. "16 [July]. The Assizes ended at Chelmsford on Saturday last, before Lord Chief Baron Parker and Mr. Justice Burnett; at which were capitally convicted, John Jepson and William Miles, for Highway Robberies; Edward Harvey, for stealing a lamb; Thomas White, for assisting in rescuing and taking away uncustom'd Goods out of the Customhouse at Colchester; John Ayles, for Housebreaking; and Phillis Dikes, for the murder of her Male Bastard Child. Miles and Harvey were reprieved before the Lord Chief Baron left the Town, and the other four ordered for Execution. John Green, capitally convicted the last Assizes, is to be transported for fourteen years.")
