						Entry says "daughter of" - Elisha is usually a boy's name. They might've meant "son of" instead, or it might be that "Elisha" is a way of spelling "Eliza". Bear in mind that this is an entry copied up from the old register in the early 1600s so copying errors might have crept in.

						Says 1634 for year but appears at end of 1633/4 baps, so presumably 1633/4. Note that there are several Painter baptisms where the mother is called Alice and the father's name is Edward or Edmund - not clear if there's two couples or the handwriting isn't clear enough to demonstrate that the father's name is definitely Edward or Edmund.
